ANSHE CHESED
FAIRMOUNT TEMPLE

September, 2023

Dear Friends:

Rabbi Nina Beth Cardin in her book, The Tapestry of Jewish Time, writes of the unique power of prayer through the span of our lives:

"Each blessing is an act of transformation. Through our words, the world is brushed with a tincture of the sacred."
– Rabbi Nina Beth Cardin

It is hard to imagine a holiday brushed with greater sanctity, what our culture calls kedushah ('holiness'), than Yom Kippur, our Day of Atonement! Many spiritually rich memories we carry occurred on Yom Kippur. These include public and prayerful moments in which the community acknowledges a year of striving for greater integrity. These holidays also provide us with time to take walks or hikes in nature, where taking notice of the miracle of the sun rising or the abundant beauty of an autumn tree can move us. There are also quiet moments spent in our homes, just taking notice of a Yizkor candle burning to signal our truly missing the loving presence of dear friends and loved ones who once sat at our sides when we prayed and when played.

Whether you are praying in person with the community... or remotely through live-stream technology, one of the portions of Yom Kippur we most want you to feel our embrace is during our Yizkor Memorial service on Yom Kippur afternoon. All of us extend to you our personal sympathies and also the solace and gentle support you'd desire to receive from your Anshe Chesed Fairmount Temple. This Book of Remembrance is intended to be a companion to our Mishkan Hanefesh High Holy Day prayerbook, during a time of the holiday where we are most in touch with the fragility of our hold on life itself. Surely during Yizkor, there will be melodies offered and meditations shared that touch your heart. But we also hope that as you read the honored names listed in this book, those remembered by our entire community, and the names of the companions of fellow members, that you will deepen your affinity with our heritage.

This book is an annual Yom Kippur keepsake for all temple members, a record of losses we've sustained, and a reminder of our synagogue's unique path of building a caring community, including tangible resources and volunteer efforts to support us when bereaved and hold us close when life hurts.

If any of our Fairmount Temple clergy, staff or leadership can be a support to you as you remember your loved ones, please do not hesitate to contact us at 216-464-1330 so that we can genuinely offer of ourselves. In addition, know that from our homes to yours, we wish you a year ahead in which you are all sealed for goodness, and where each act of kindness, justice and decency you pledge to do in the upcoming Jewish New Year is fulfilled!

L'shalom Al Yisrael,

Robert A. Nosanchuk

It is the custom of Anshe Chesed Fairmount Temple to remember at this season – the Alcalay family (Richard Nissim, Marcella Nissim, Nissim Samuel, Samuel Judah, and Henriette Nissim) – representing those of our people and other nations who perished in the Holocaust.

It also is our custom to remember David Berger, son of Dottie (z”l) & Ben Berger (z”l) and of this congregation, who, as a member of Israel’s Olympic team, was killed by terrorists at the 1972 Olympic Games in Munich.

Yizkor – May You Remember

Blessed and sacred is your great name in this world created by Your word and blessed and sacred and honored are the names of our loved ones who are formed in Your image whose lives are in Your hand whose love has kept us safe and blessed us beyond all blessings and songs and praises and comfort that may be offered in this world.

Yizkor – For all these names, and for all of us make peace descend from the heavens and let the memory of our loved ones be a blessing.
Blessed is the One who grants us peace
And let us say: Amen

It is for us to remember the distance between life and death is as close as a kiss
and all our memories are Your eternal light created before the sun and the moon and the stars.

And if we remember those who have given us life
of the body or of the soul and if we let the memories of their strength flow through our veins and muscles and thoughts
we will have strength enough to inhabit this One moment.

Between Us

(Rabbi Harold Schulweis)

God. Where? Not in me nor in you... but between us.

God. Not me or mine, nor you or yours... but ours.

God. Known, not in isolation, but in relationship.

God. Covenanted.

Sacred claims, obligations, commandments, above, below, between.

Healing, binding, saving...

Redeeming, shielding, nurturing...

God.

If You Look at The Stars and Yawn

(Aaron Zeitlin, translated by Rabbi Emanuel S. Goldsmith)

Praise Me, says God, I will know that you love Me.

Curse Me, I will know that you love Me.

Praise Me or curse Me,

I will know that you love Me.

Sing out My graces, says God.

Raise your fist against Me and revile, says God.

Sing My graces or revile –

Reviling is also praise, says God.

But if you sit fenced off in your apathy,

If you sit entrenched in "I don't give a hang," says God,

If you look at the stars and yawn, says God,

If you see suffering and don't cry out,

If you don't praise and you don't revile,

then I created you in vain, says God.

Finding Our Way to You

(Rabbi Richard Levy)

In passion once, my parents conceived something that became me. They had, I'm sure, made love before. But You decided that their love that night would be fruitful. Why that time, did You permit their union to grow into me? How did they feel to be channels of Your ancient promise to create as many Jewish people as the stars?

Through my parents I first felt Your touch of life. Through them I learned how You had touched them. I did not always like the way they understood You. I tried my mother's way sometimes, my father's way...my grandparents way...

Sometimes when my mother lit her candles or stared out the window, I stepped back... Startled, as though she were with You in the light...not to be disturbed. Sometimes my father looked me in the eyes and saw more than me there, You perhaps, and I just stood still, not wishing to disrupt his silent conversation.

Did Abraham look into Isaac's eyes as my father looks at me? Did Deena look at her father Jacob, trying to see You there who had walked with him in the lonely nights? So much of You we know through those who gave us life!

When, inevitably, we argue with our parents, are embarrassed by them, ashamed of them, for just that moment we cut ourselves off from seeing You in them, and a little spark of You goes out in us.

Away from them, stepping back from them, we can more clearly understand how much we mean to them, how much they care for us, even if their words sometimes suggest they love us only when they like what we do.

But when reunions come and all is forgotten in the first embrace, we remember: it was through them we first felt Your embrace. Through them we caught the spark of Your presence, trimmed it, tended it, until we could build a hearth where love would flame in us, warming others with our love as our parents had warmed us.

Who were Abraham and Sarah, Isaac, Jacob, Deena and the rest? Who was the God they knew? We can begin to find the answers by our parents' light... as one day when we have children or others whom we teach, they will begin to find their way to You, through us.

To provide a gateway for deeper personal enrichment by helping individuals embrace their Jewish faith through lifelong learning, acts of loving-kindness, and uniting on the front line of social justice.
